I'LL MEET YOU THERE!

"Jesus said to them, "Do not be afraid. Go and tell my brothers to go to Galilee; there they will see me." Matthew 28:10

When we were out at the Mall of America with our family, everyone wanted to go to see different places at the mall. The ladies wanted to go look at clothes and shoes. The guys wanted to check out the sports stuff. The young ones wanted to ride the roller coaster. Everyone wanted to go their own way. Before we all dispersed to our variety of interests, I said to everyone, "Let's meet up at Legoland when you're all done."

It seems that our human condition is to always go our own way, seeking what we do not yet know, going where we have not yet been. When we are done and we have found what we were looking for or tire of looking, we want to know where we will get together again.

I wonder about that sometimes. Will we be together again? I wonder as I think of all the people that have been a part of my life. Some I'm still in touch with but others I haven't seen or heard from in years. I think of all the funerals I've been to and wonder when that "bright and glorious day" comes, will we all be gathered together again?

An old movie from 1984 painted a vivid picture of this kind of reunion. The film was called "Places in the Heart" and starred actress Sally Fields. It's the story of 1930's central Texas and poor cotton farmers. There is a scene that is particularly poignant. It takes place in the little country church after several bad years of crops and the loss of loved ones in the family. The organ is playing. A hymn is being sung. Parishioners are coming forward to kneel at the communion rail. As people come forward, Sally Fields character realizes that there are more people gathered than those present. She sees those who have died kneeling beside those who are yet alive. The whole family of God is coming together in worship and communion. It is really a very beautiful scene.

I wonder if that is what it will be like when Jesus gathers all of us together. We confess in the words of the Apostle's Creed, "He will come again to judge the living and the dead."

I know the followers of Jesus' must have wondered this too. After Jesus' death on the cross and finding the tomb empty, they must have wondered if they would ever be together again? It's good that in Matthew's gospel at the end Jesus leaves them with the answer.

Jesus met the women on the road from the empty tomb on that Easter morning. They fell at His feet and worshipped Him. Jesus said to them, "Do not be afraid. Go and tell my brothers to go to Galilee; there they will see me."

Jesus told them where to meet Him again. There must have been great hope in hearing that they would be with Jesus and each other again. Matthew's gospel is particularly unique in what it says. When they got to Galilee and met Jesus, He sends them out again "Go and make disciples..." followed by a wonderful promise, "I will be with you always, to the close of the age."

Peace Lutheran Church will be offering a week's VBS to children 4 years old by January 1, 2019 through kids going into 6th grade. This wild adventure starts Monday, June 10th (8:45 to 11:55 a.m.) and ends with a "Family VBS Celebration" at 11:30 a.m. on Friday. (All Peace members are invited to attend!)

We will be using the VBS series from LifeWay Ministries (www.lifeway.com). The cost is $30 per child with a $90 family cap (scholarships available). We'll be able to welcome 75 kids, so get your registrations in today! Deadline is May 30, 2019 or whenever we have 75 kids registered.

Grab your camera—wild encounters are coming! Throw on your camera strap and buckle your seatbelt. VBS 2019 takes you on a wild adventure—with elephants and egrets, polar bears and penguins, cockatoos and crocodiles. As you seek out exotic animals, you'll also find snapshots of real-life encounters with Jesus in Scripture. Kids go from bewildered to believing as they get "In the Wild" at this summer's VBS.

Scripture: But these are written so that you may believe that Jesus is the Messiah, the Son of God, and that by believing you may have life in his name. (John 20:31)

VBS Motto: Zoom in! Focus on Jesus!

What will your child receive for that fee? A solid, faith-based curriculum, caring teachers and guides, music, arts, snacks, a T-shirt, a backpack, a music CD, and week of wonderful memories! Check out our website at www.come2peace.com for registration forms!

This is going to be another wonderful year for Vacation Bible School at Peace. Each and every year we increase the number of kids coming to VBS and the number of those wanting to help at VBS. Watch for announcements and lists of how YOU can help with VBS. If you have any questions or would like to be involved in any way, please talk to Tracy Hulley (tracynglen@gmail.com or 612-221-2466).

Beth Seefeldt

Getting to Know Our Ministry Board

Greetings. As a ministry board member, I have enjoyed serving Peace. I am a charter member of Peace Lutheran, and have seen many changes and beginnings over these years. My husband, Tim, and I have 4 grown children and 6 grandchildren. All are members of Peace and enjoy helping in many ways. I enjoy working in the community in public service and helping couples plan their weddings, with beautiful decor and flowers. In the 40 years of marriage and various jobs over the years, I have yet to discover a job that I do not enjoy. 'Service with a smile' is my motto, at work and in the church. God would want it that way. Nice to meet you, and if I haven't had the opportunity to speak with you yet, I look forward to it. Please say "hi" the next time we meet.

God Bless,
Beth Seefeldt

This year's National Day of Prayer is Love One Another. The theme comes from the words of Jesus in John 13:34, "Love one another, just as I have loved you." We live in a world that is more connected than ever but feels very divided. The National Day of Prayer gives us an opportunity to unite as a country and pray for God's love to be revealed to a broken world. Visit nationaldayofprayer.org for more details on how you can participate.

April Bible Quiz Question: Which woman is named the most in the Bible?

In honor of Mother's Day, I chose a question about the mother "of many nations" - Sarah. Sarah is mentioned 59 times. Rachel comes in second at 47 mentions.

Hebrews 11:11 says, "By faith Sarah herself also received strength to conceive, and she bore a child when she was past the age, because she judged Him Faithful who had promised."

Now, when I think of Sarah, I don't think of her great faith. In fact, what we read in Genesis seems very different than how she is remembered in Hebrews.

"So Sarah laughed to herself as she thought, 'After I am worn out and my lord is old, will I now have this pleasure?' Then the LORD said to Abraham, 'Why did Sarah laugh and say, 'Will I really have a child, now that I am old?' Is anything too hard for the LORD? I will return to you at the appointed time next year, and Sarah will have a son.' Sarah was afraid, so she lied and said, 'I did not laugh.' But he said, 'Yes, you did laugh.'" Genesis 18:12-15

You're probably thinking, "well, I would laugh too." We have much better health care today and yet this would still appear impossible.

What strikes me about these two scriptures is that somewhere between Genesis and Hebrews we are given a different picture of Sarah. We don't see it happen in Genesis, but she stops laughing at the impossible and starts to believe. She believed so strongly that the writer of Hebrews says "by" her faith she "received strength to conceive...." A miracle that allowed her to physically carry a child at 90 years of age.

The writer goes on to say that "she judged Him faithful who had promised." She wasn't relying on the promise but rather the promise keeper. God saw her heart, He saw her faith. So in the New Testament instead of calling out her mistakes and failures — He called out her faith! We read later that, after Sarah's death, Abraham remarried and had more children. God could have fulfilled His promise with Abraham's second wife but He didn't. God chose Sarah. He had a plan and a purpose for her life.

The Bible never sugar-coats the truth. We get to read about the good, the bad and the ugly. We learn important spiritual lessons about ourselves from reading about the successes and failures of those who came before us. We also learn important lessons about God's heart by how He remembered Sarah in Hebrews. Micah 7:19 says "You will trample our sins under your feet and throw them into the depths of the ocean." God saw in Sarah the person He created her to be and remembered that in Hebrews.

We are the ones who have trouble letting go of our mistakes and failures. God sees in us something that we may not yet even see in ourselves. A faith that is growing and maturing everyday. He wants to draw us in to be a part of something so much more than ourselves and fulfill a greater purpose than we can even imagine. God could choose to use someone else for His plan but He chooses us—He wants us. Let go of the mistakes and failures and cling to the "author and perfecter of our faith" (Hebrews 12:2) so that in the end we are remembered by our faith, not our failures.

When Your Kids Are Irresponsible

By Kevin Leman

Irresponsible kids aren't created out of thin air. They're taught to be that way by someone in their house. And if there isn't a consequence, your kids won't change their behavior.

When your children don't act the way you want them to, do you feel that "urge" to show them who's boss? If so, you tend toward the authoritarian, "I know best" model of parenting. The authoritarian parent makes decisions for their child, prompting inner or outward rebellion and a lack of problem-solving skills in their children.

If you're always tiptoeing around your kids' behavior in an attempt to keep them happy, you're a permissive, "whatever you want" parent. Permissive parents don't allow their children to experience the results of their actions.

Both extremes are problematic. Only the authoritative parent allows age-appropriate choices and uses "reality discipline" so kids experience real-life consequences for choices while still in the safe nest of their home.

How reality discipline works

Contrary to how they act, children need boundaries or home won't feel safe. But your authority must be balanced, loving and yet aimed toward their long-term well-being. How can you best parent kids when they fail to act appropriately?

Hold them accountable: Your son is late to school for the third time in two weeks. You've rescued him by white lies on notes before, but this time you tell the truth: "He's late because he slept in. Do whatever you do to kids who are late."

Yes, he's angry with you and embarrassed because he gets detention, but your refusal to bail him out of the mess he created is a long-term gift, showing him that his actions matter. Let him off the hook now, and his "purposive behavior" of irresponsibility will continue.

Stick to your guns: Your daughter failed to do her chores, after you reminded her several times. After school, she races in to change clothes so she can go out with her friends. But you confiscate the car keys.

"You neglected to do your chores, even after I reminded you. So you've lost your privileges," you say. She'll try everything — pleading, crying, yelling, apologizing — but you don't back down. Yes, it's a tough evening, but if you give in, she'll continue to avoid her responsibilities. Stick to your guns, and she'll learn that responsibilities matter.

Let reality be the teacher: Your son games online instead of studying for his math test. The result is a red D and a teacher note about a mandatory retake when he's supposed to be at basketball practice. He's fuming about how unfair life is. Just stay mum and let reality do the talking.

Realize fighting is an act of cooperation: As the old saying goes, it takes two to tango. Your daughters are in each other's faces over a ripped clothing item. They move their fracas into your locale. Since they're fighting to get your attention, remove yourself from ground zero with a simple, "I'm sure you can work it out." Say it once, then turn your back and walk away. They'll have to learn how to compromise and work out their conflicts on their own.

The next time your child participates in irresponsible behavior, think: What do I normally do? What will I do differently this time? If you want to change your child's behavior, start by adjusting your own.

THEY DON'T TELL YOU IN SUNDAY SCHOOL

July 10, 17, 24, 31
August 7, 14

This six-week series looks at little known or unusual Bible stories and how they offer examples of God's work through untidy individuals or circumstances. The world is a dark place. The Bible shows us that God enters into the darkest situations to bring redemption. And then, he offers us the opportunity to be his agents of change in the world.

Dear Peace Lutheran Church—

Thank you very much for your kind donation of $2,000 to Feed My Starving Children.

Because of your generosity, over 22 children will eat for a year.

Thank you for your ongoing support of FMSC. We look forward to hosting your next packing session.

Peace Lutheran is blessed with wonderful Sunday school teachers. God calls us all to grow in knowledge and wisdom; to go and tell what we have seen, heard and learned.

Since September, our congregation has been blessed by these teachers who were willing to commit themselves to attending church every week, spend time creating memorable, fun lessons for their students, and share their love of Jesus Christ with the children and families of their class.
